DEL REC

Packers are going through their own cattle and contract cattle and need to buy more showlist cattle this week. So far slaughter is down 5,000 head compared to last week at this time and 3000 head compared to a year ago. The question has to be, do packers want to increase slaughter. Packer profit margins on higher money will eat away the tight margins packers have now and with weights dropping, packers will have to dig deep for cattle to meet previously contract beef orders.

Choice Boxed beef was up 48 cents Wednesday on light sales with 110 total loads moved. Select boxed beef lost 4.17. Choice Chucks and Select Chucks saw the largest declines. This is the time of the year when beef has low demand and unless buyers begin to stock up for early spring sales, it will be hard to get beef moving higher. However, weights are dropping and that should be supportive.

Who is going to come out ahead on cash cattle market. Producers in the Southwest want $161.00 and Midwest producers want $162.00. Packers have paid $159.00 on a handful of cattle and like a week ago, they will likely wait until Friday with serious bids. Packers aren't pushing slaughter and will buy just enough cattle to meet contracted beef orders and the small amount of beef sold on the daily market.

Live Cattle trade volume was light to moderate Wednesday. Spreaders were buying the first 3 months and selling August on out.

Beef exports at 16,400 MT were down from the previous week. There were no big buyers. South Korea took 4,400MT followed by Japan with 3,500MT. China took a small amount at 1,400MT and traders likely will take exports as a negative factor.

The previous week net sales were 25,200 MT.

National Weekly Fed Cattle Comprehensive Report February 7, 2023

As of February 7, 2023 dressed steer and heifer carcasses averaged 871.6 pounds down 12.1 pounds the previous week. The grading percent was 84.9% compared to previous week at 84.9%.

Compared to last week, steers and heifers sold 5.00 to 10.00 higher. Demand was reported as good to very good this week. The supply of feeders and stockers was light to moderate nationwide due to a winter storm rolling across the country with a more southern route than normal for this time of year, impacting Texas, Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, and southern Missouri.
